

About the Presenters

Becky Gaytko is a civilian employee of the Dayton Police Department, working directly for Chief Richard Biehl. Her role is to develop effective partnerships with the Dayton Police Department, stakeholders, and neighborhoods, equipping and encouraging partners for practicing Community Problem Oriented Policing (CPOP). Different than crime reduction efforts that have more often been offender-based, CPOP embraces “situational crime prevention.” While not ignoring offender-based strategies, CPOP focuses more broadly on reducing opportunities for crimes to occur in specific situations to prevent individuals from becoming victims. Becky has a bachelor’s degree in Urban Studies (with a specialty in psychology) from Wright State University and a Master’s Degree in Public Administration. She is acting President of Ohio Crime Prevention Association as well as Secretary for the Miami Valley Crime Prevention Association.

Chris Pawelski is the Community Engagement Officer for the Dayton Police Department. As a graduate of Ohio Peace Officer’s Training Academy he has been a certified police officer with the city of Dayton since 2007. He is an experienced speaker and trainer in the field of personal safety for people from a variety of backgrounds and has been certified to teach self-defense awareness since 2012. Chris is also actively involved in the Miami Valley Crime Prevention Association.

Ronald Strehle has been a member of the Dayton Police Department since 1995 and part of the Miami Valley Crime Prevention Association since 2011, where he currently serves as the President on the MVCPA Executive Board. Ron is a Certified Crime Prevention Specialist and a certified instructor for Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED). Strehle produces strong crime prevention trainings and outreach as part of his Dayton Police Department responsibilities, coordinating Citizen’s Academies, numerous Run, Hide, Fight and Women’s Self Defense Awareness trainings. He is the recipient of the Ohio Crime Prevention Association’s 2016 Crime Prevention Practitioner of the Year Award.

House of Worship and Community Safety in Today’s Environment

Friday, March 22, 2019

8:15 am – 12:30 pm

Church of the Ascension

“If you have not attended the House of Worship Workshop organized by the Health Ministries Program, I highly recommend you consider going and taking a friend or co-worker...”

Cathy Magness, Pastoral Associate,
Church of the Ascension

Sponsored by:

Consider this: HOW HAS...

- your leadership planned for the overall safety of your faith community?
- your faith community prepared for an “active shooter” incident?

It is important for faith communities, other community groups and individuals to partner with first responders to develop and improve awareness in order to act to prevent crime and address emergency situations. This program will discuss these issues and the resources available to assist those in the community as applied within their setting. This workshop is designed for faith community nurses, health ministers, clergy and staff and any others with an interest in public safety as it relates to communities of faith.
