First day of mask wearing in Perth WA -and the lady next to me started to chat to me as we were by ourselves then pulled out her phone and showed me photos of her body 5 weeks ago after 2nd Phizer shot. She was covered in big continuous and angry purple blister sores from head to toes in the ER. She said she can't tell or show her friends and family because they get angry at her for saying it is from the vaccine. Makes me wonder how many of us are being bullied into believing it's not from the shots and then we don't report it?

After work on the 8/9/21 I passed out on my couch at home, which was rare, woke up an hr later in a sweat and had a more aggressive and uncomfortable pain across my left chest, arm and neck. I went to Casino emergency they ran me through a protocol of test including bloods and an ECG. I was given multiple doses of morphine to subside the pain. That night I was sent to Lismore base emergency and went through similar testing throughout the night. The next day I was eventually told it was pericarditis and sent home with a script for colchicine and told to take ibuprofen with it. A week later I returned as I was told if the pains get this bad again come back. This time they said it wasn't clinical pericarditis and to stop taking the colchicine and was discharged. The next day I went to my GO who referred me to a cardiologist. He said it

At a consult 6wks later with the cardiologist he continued my colchicine for 6mths. I continued to go to casino emergency as throughout this time as the pains were too much to be comfortable with. Eventually I was given an MRI from my cardiologist after one of these visits to emergency. These results showed mild myocarditis and no treatment other than rest and get on a diet was recommended. I am currently still waiting on an exemption from further vaccines and currently unable to work with this condition as any stress or physical activity can cause heart failure.

He had 5 full weeks off from work and the past 3 weeks, has managed to work 3 days a week. He still experiences episodes of chestpain and cannot work physically, without experiencing pain. He is 50yo, a previously healthy and active man, a gifted Teacher and has not been well since this first Astrazeneca dose. With Kevin's persistence, his GP has given him a 3 month temporary exemption which ends in early March 2022. To retain his teaching position, he will then have to risk a further Covid vaccination, which we believe, is unsafe and very unfair, considering what he has gone through after the first Astrazeneca vaccine. As his wife and a Nurse, I find this treatment of Kevin completely unacceptable. The mandates are not allowing for the vaccine injured, and doctors are reluctant to speak out and advocate for their patients. This has been so obvious to me over the last few weeks. On the 22nd of September 2021 there was an earthquake in Melbourne, in retrospect I should have taken in as a omen, however I received my first Moderna vaccine at my local pharmacy, waiting the 15 minutes for any reaction which there wasn't at that time, and left. 6 days later I started feeling a tightness in my chest and was concerned about peri or myocarditis. I spoke with a GP the next day and the subsequent day had an ECG and bloodwork performed. All tests were ok. The following week I still had the chest tightness and started to feel intermittently fatigued. Attended my local hospital 3 times in ten days, blood tests and x-rays were performed but no issues where found. I had an echo cardiogram performed which came back clear for peri or myocarditis, and I even saw a Cardiologist. He dismissed my concerns saying that it wasn't my heart, and I could probably even get the second jab. I started feeling better for the next week, and I even considered getting the 2nd jab, thankfully I didn't. 9 days after seeing the cardiologist, approximately 5 weeks after the vaccine, the chest tightness returned and this time also brought with it consistent headache, muscle soreness, fatigue, "foggy" head and being unable to concentrate. I also needed to urinate more and started waking to having sweated in the night. I went to hospital again and they performed more blood tests, suggested that I should look into other issues instead of the heart, eg diabetes or a stomach ulcer. The headache and fatigue continued, and I tried to fight it and work while also seeking second opinions. My friends told me it was stress. Another doctor suggested it might be low symptom COVID, however the blood check for that came back negative. I had a stress

I started supplementing my diet with Vitamins C,D & Zinc. At this time, I also found a doctor who agreed that I had been vaccine injured and also agreed with the treatment plan that my naturopath had subscribed. While I was feeling better for the first couple of days, the headache had remains constant and I was also conscious that my eyesight had become more difficult, causing stronger headaches if I didn't have my glasses on, which had never been the case prior to the vaccine. On a Sunday morning 7 and 1/2 weeks after the vaccine I awoke shivering but physically not cold or fevered and my eyesight felt worse. I went to the hospital for a 5th time since the vaccine. They performed physical checks and a urine test. The doctor there agreed that it was probably the vaccine, but the only thing that I could do was "ride it out". The following Tuesday morning I awoke shaking again at 3am and my feet freezing. After much searching, I was advised by a nurse that the only thing that seems to help the many others that had contacted her was Ivermectin, which ridiculously is now banned in Australia. I managed to source some and thankfully after taking it the pressure in my head and eyes reduced for the first time in a month. I took a course of 5 days dosage, all I could obtain, and it has helped lessen my symptoms. I am not medically trained I am only sharing my experience Now my eyesight has returned almost to normal, and the headache subdued. I do not know if this will be temporary or a lasting solution. It is clear to me that the vaccine I took has caused me a great many, and unfortunately ongoing, physical injuries that were not outlined when I had the vaccine. Frustratingly after searches online it was clear that the symptoms that I felt were not isolated, and it is clear to me that the TGA would have known of these risks and expected outcomes like mine. The past two months have been the toughest of my life and have caused so much unnecessary stress and mental fatigue on myself and my family. While I accept that Moderna appears to work as intended on some people, thankfully my wife's experience so far has been normal with only the small red patch on her arm post injection, the injuries that it has already caused to myself and the reports that I have heard about its affects that are worse than those that I experienced lead me suggest it is too dangerous and should no longer be used. I continue to be treated for my vaccine injury, and while I am hopeful for a full recovery, I fear more future consequences of the vaccine.

The doctor advised the cause was most likely Trigeminal Neuralgia and prescribed Prednisolone & a low does Endep. On Friday 29th 2021 at approximately 2am his pain was nothing I had ever witnessed he was screaming crying & wanting to rip teeth from his own head (and for the record I’ve seen him cry once in our 19 years together) – I rushed him down to Frankston Hospital Emergency Department. The attending ED doctor took him off both the prednisolone & endep and he was discharged at approximately 6am still in an extreme amount of pain with a script for Carbamazepine and advised to book a GP appointment to organize a referral for a brain MRI. Later that morning the attending ED Doctor made a phone call to my husband and advised of her concerns in regards to the timeline of events in conjunction with the Pfizer vaccination and had made a formal appointment for the ‘Adverse Reaction Outpatients Clinic’ at Frankston Hospital. At approximately 7pm on Friday 29th October 2021 he was in an excruciating amount of pain again (screaming & crying) and I rushed him back to Frankston Hospital Emergency where they admitted him for 2 nights stay. They placed him on the following medications – Carbamazepine, Gabapentin, Celebrex, Pantoprazole, Endone & Paracetamol. Due to restrictions; I wasn't allowed into the hospital and this caused a lot of distress & anxiety as due to the extreme pain & the side effects of medication he found it difficult to communicate with doctors & nurses or remember much. At one stage I had him in tears on the phone in extreme pain – which I contacted the ward and spoke to his nurse & requested that I am called when the doctor is in to help him understand – the nurse promised this would be possible; and I was really let down as it never happened. He was discharged in the afternoon of Sunday 31st October 2021 still in pain and with scripts for the above medications. On Monday November 1st 2021 the pain was still at an unbearable level and the GP upped the dosage of Carbamazepine & Gabapentin. And in the evening of Monday November 1st 2021 at approximately 7.30pm I ended up having to call an ambulance as the pain was back to unbearable. The ambulance paramedics took him back to Frankston Hospital ED where they provided endone and kicked him out at 3am in the morning still without the pain under control. At the moment I am attempting to manage him pain with medication, acupuncture, chiropractic and with the assistance of our GP. He was lucky enough to get a cancellation appointment with a Neurologist (as the current wait times were 3/4 months for an appointment) and the Neurologist formally diagnosed him with Trigeminal Neuralgia. Because I basically have no possessions other than the boat which is my home, I rely on my health as my most valued possession. I have managed to fight off two cancers thus far, bowel cancer, non hodgkins lymphoma (remission) so I am no stranger in fighting for my health. This vaccine has got me stumped, I don't know how to counter the effects which I never imagined I would have to deal with. It has been around ten wks since my first AZ, I was apprehensive about getting it and held off till I spoke to my oncologist, and she said.."Get It". The nurse was excellent and informative and administered the shot. The result was almost instantaneous, my vision blurred slightly, my face felt flushed, my eyes felt like they were watering, but we're not. The worst was the extreme light headedness, not dizzy but loss of balance and like my coordination was changed. That started the onset of fatigue which took over in that day. I had suffered shooting leg pains which have very slowly subsided. I had to wait the time afterwards before walking off, I never registered any adverse reaction to the nurse as I trusted the symptoms would go. That began a struggle to get my fitness back, I can go through anything to get thru the other side. Every dr and nurse I came across just jumped instantly to panic attacks., at Westmead hospital I was initially seen, but told I wasn't in need of urgent car and told to wait outside in the waiting room my pain did not subside for 3 hours and I lied on the floor in agony crying thinking I was going to die for 2 hours I noticed after an hour they had a staff member on standby with a defibrillator. The pain felt circulatory like it traveled from my left hand arm chest then down my right leg and back incrementally roughly every 30 seconds. Prior to me going to the hospital I was at work and walking quickly to catch up to a work colleague and was instantly breathless, sharp stabbing chest pain this really hurt & started to scare me. I lied down and rested then took 3 asprins once the pain started to subside & my breathe came back, I then drove to the hospital and when walking quickly again to get to the emergency room I collapsed again from pain and breathlessness.

The nurses however tried to tell me I have anxiety, they said you've probably got gastritis.. I do have gastritis but it doesn't hurt in my chest I explained to her. As soon as I mentioned I am on antidepressants they wanted to immediately dismiss my problems for panic attacks. I had to beg my Dr to pls help me figure out what's wrong because I can't take pain meds anymore. He was happy to refer me. I will find out more when I see the cardiologist. I am booked in on Friday for my second jab. I'm refusing. I'm not allowed to take my 5 year old to swimming lessons because I'm not doubled jabbed, I'm not allowed to work after 26/11, I'm not allowed to get my hair cut, my nails done, my childrens hair cut.. I can't go to any of my laser appointments, I'm not allowed to see my neurologist face to face for my permanent nerve damage from a work related injury. I'm so anxious and angry about my children suffering! I was so scared about getting this vaccine, I was pressured by my family, my friends, my work place. People called me selfish and stupid, they claim I'm being ridiculous because I had a terrible feeling about this vaccine and I didn't want it! I had it on the cut off date made by my employer. I'm a mess now I'm not getting the second one. I'm a single parent, I'll lose my job.. I can't go to uni if I'm not double jabbed to changed professions, I work in retail.. I can't go out with friends or family. It's extremely frustrating and isolating. I just want it over and i want an exemption for the second and they said NO NOT UNLESS YOU HAVE A PERMANENT HEART CONDITION ☹️

My headache was increasing again and affected my sleep. I ached in every part of my body. I intermittently had blurred vision. I had pins and needles and buzzing in my arm and hands. My husband and the children were not home and I made it downstairs as I really wanted a squash rather than water. I couldn't get the screw cap off. I had lost all strength in my left hand. I tried another bottle which was a used bottle of squash and yet again I could not remove the lid. I sat on the kitchen floor and wept. I made it back upstairs with a glass of water. Day 6, headache still raging and I'm getting quite worried now . My friend had seen a report on BBC news saying that if you are continuing to have headaches after 4 days to contact your GP. I contacted the GP and spoke to the receptionist and explained my symptoms but all available appointments were gone. 									Day 7 I rang the doctor again first thing in the morning and I did manage to get a GP to call me back. I explained my symptoms and was asked to go to A&E to get it checked. I unfortunately had to go in on my own because of the Covid rules and was triaged and sent to Ambulatory care. I had a cannula put in and my bloods were taken, the first set seemed normal but they were very worried about symptoms and because of all of the news about clots on the brain at the time he luckily spoke to the consultant Ms Asghar who asked for a CT scan just to be sure. Results... can't remember what was said as I was on my own and it was so much to process. I was told that they found some defects on my brain which was blocking some blood flow. I was in a lot of pain, maybe 8/9. I took a paracetamol and woke my husband and we went straight to A&E. I was admitted and assessed and given codeine and then morphine which took the edge off. More bloods and another CT scan and no change but the lovely, compassionate consultant in A&E said he would keep me in over night on A&E for observation. I was placed on a drip and was looked after incredibly well. Unfortunately I got moved at 11pm onto a ward which was noisy and I was awake all night. Not helpful with a headache and it wasn't supposed to happen. The consultant found me at 9am and was not happy I was moved and talked to me about my condition and because of my fitness level it was why I was bouncing back so quickly. Unfortunately I then went on to have a

It's too thick then too thin and it goes on. Saturday 1st May I get my overdue period and it is very heavy for 3 days. I had to use both a tampon as well as a sanitary towel. By this point anxiety had really kicked in although it had felt tight in my chest for weeks since I had been told. Tuesday 4th . Back at pathology for blood test, straight back home and into bed resting as it wiped me out. The nurse said I didn't look very well and because my symptoms were now nearly at a week to go to Ambulatory care as I still have a open appointment there. I rang them as I was still onsite and they asked me to come in. I had bloods taken and I waited a couple of hours for the results as it was busy but that's fine. I was seen by a consultant whose bedside manner is very abrupt. 									I was in shock at his manor towards my condition. I didn't just keep going to the hospital on every headache. I was told to go by the haematology nurse. I was also told if I feel worse or I bleed heavily from a period to go in. I did everything I was told to do and I did not deserve to be made to feel like I was imagining it and it was just stress and not to worry. Last time my platelets were fine and I had a bleed. Who knows I could have had a additional one but he didn't want to check. He told me to take vitamin C and not to worry. I continued to be poorly at home. I work for myself as a hairdresser. I was due to return to work on 14/4/21 as the restriction for hairdressers were being lifted. Again I was not able to work or earn. I self referred myself to talking therapies as I was so anxious all the time. I managed to get a cancellation in another town and I paid £50 for an eye test and scan. All clear but the optician suspected the warfarin or the clots are triggering a migraine with Aura. Two days later I receive a phone call from the hospital asking me to go in in two hours for an emergency eye appointment as it was referred by the previous consultant. I spoke to a lovely consultant who did some tests on my eyes and told me to come back to have a further test but not to drive as I would not be able to see for 6 hours. He asked if I had a peripheral vision test as it was needed otherwise my car insurance would be void. I had been driving back and forwards to the hospital for weeks and nobody had explained this . 									recently had and I hadn't had any!! I was discharged the next day with a strong anti inflammatory shot and prescription for colchicine, to take with ibuprofen. 1 week later I had the same pains, so as advised I went back to Lismore base emergency where the rather rude impatient doctor said there was nothing wrong, there were no clear signs, although they seemed to be the same as last from my perspective, of pericarditis and blamed chest wall inflammation. I asked how does that make me so fatigued, as I couldn't walk 10-20m without falling exhausted. I was told to go home, stop taking the colchicine tablets!! As they weren't working. I was not happy with this treatment so seemed support from my GP who referred me to a specialist in Brisbane, who was supportive and what I believed overly honest about the vaccine, my condition and future resolution. He agreed that I stay in the colchicine for 3mths, record any pains or aches and said we will have consultation check up in 6weeks to see of things have changed and even run a stress test. To this date I have had pains weekly, none are time or exercise sensitive and last max 30-40min.

I made it back upstairs with a glass of water. Day 6, headache still raging and I'm getting quite worried now . My friend had seen a report on BBC news saying that if you are continuing to have headaches after 4 days to contact your GP. I contacted the GP and spoke to the receptionist and explained my symptoms but all available appointments were gone. I was told to contact the Covid website or 111. I looked but just did not have the energy. Day 7 I rang the doctor again first thing in the morning and I did manage to get a GP to call me back. I explained my symptoms and was asked to go to A&E to get it checked. I unfortunately had to go in on my own because of the Covid rules and was triaged and sent to Ambulatory care. I had a cannula put in and my bloods were taken, the first set seemed normal but they were very worried about symptoms and because of all of the news about clots on the brain at the time he luckily spoke to the consultant Ms Asghar who asked for a CT scan just to be sure. Results... can't remember what was said as I was on my own and it was so much to process. I was told that they found some defects on my brain which was blocking some blood flow. I was placed on a drip and was looked after incredibly well. Unfortunately I got moved at 11pm onto a ward which was noisy and I was awake all night. Not helpful with a headache and it wasn't supposed to happen. The consultant found me at 9am and was not happy I was moved and talked to me about my condition and because of my fitness level it was why I was bouncing back so quickly. Unfortunately I then went on to have a purpuric rash on my legs as I was reacting to Apixaban. Back to hospital to be accessed and to be placed on Rivaroxaban. Unfortunately a rash all over my torso and a spaced out feeling, so I was placed onto Fondaparinux injections and warfarin. . I've been back and forth to the hospital trying to get the dose correct. I had bloods taken and I waited a couple of hours for the results as it was busy but that's fine. I was seen by a consultant whose bedside manor is very abrupt. He explained that my bloods hadn't changed. He had no explanation of why I felt so dreadful after feeling a lot better and stronger the week before. He added that stress and anxiety can make the issue worse and to just try and forget the clots are there!!!! I was in shock at his manor towards my condition. I didn't just keep going to the hospital on every headache. I was told to go by the haematology nurse. I was also told if I feel worse or I bleed heavily from a period to go in. I did everything I was told to do and I did not deserve to be made to feel like I was imagining it and it was just stress and not to worry. Last time my platelets were fine and I had a bleed. Who knows I could have had a additional one but he didn't want to check. He told me to take vitamin C and not to worry. I continued to be poorly at home. I work for myself as a hairdresser. I was due to return to work on 14/4/21 as the restriction for hairdressers were being lifted. Again I was not able to work or earn. I self referred myself to talking therapies as I was so anxious all the time. I finally got my treatment started with a councillor in September, which is helping my state of mind but it was a very long time to wait. In August I started to get headaches and intermittent blurred vision again and spoke to my doctor who referred me to the hospital that day for another C.T scan. The consultant was very abrupt and rude and dismissive. When I explained I was frustrated that I was continually being told it was all so new and there are no answers , he kind of scoffed and said that was true. I was very upset and I asked him why I wasn't being listened to and I wanted to be referred to a neurologist as I had still not seen one. I told him I was still getting headaches and vision issues. He rang back to TELL ME , I had to attend a optical appointment the next day but I had to go and book it somewhere. I asked why I couldn't just go to the hospital to get it done but he said I would have to wait. He told me that they needed to check behind my retina. I since found out it was he was worried about an eye stroke and damage to the retina but none of this was explained. I managed to get a cancellation in another town and I paid £50 for an eye test and scan. All clear but the optician suspected the warfarin or the clots are triggering a migraine with Aura. Two days later I receive a phone call from the hospital asking me to go in in two hours for an emergency eye appointment as it was referred by the previous consultant. I spoke to a lovely consultant who did some tests on my eyes and told me to come back to have a further test but not to drive as I would not be able to see for 6 hours. He asked if I had a peripheral vision test as it was needed otherwise my car insurance would be void. I had been driving back and forwards to the hospital for weeks and nobody had explained this . He told me after my second appointment all was well and thought the same as the optician that it was triggering migraines with Aura. Sometimes

The gp said take nurofen and a tablet to stop the nurofen causing stomach problems. The symptoms are all still there but have eased slightly. My fingers became extremely swollen and painful. The gp said to stop the nurofen. That was about 2 weeks ago. The swelling came down a bit but my fingers are still a bit stiff, and of course still numb. I just had a brain CT scan so the gp can work out the cause of numbness. I came back normal but the report said an MRI is suggested. My 21 yr old daughter also had the same symptoms that I did after her first pfizer shot. She didn't get her 2nd shot and the gp said she can have the AZ. I asked whether it would be suitable to get another vaccine while she is still experiencing these symptoms and he said "well you could wait if you like". I was desperate and then saw Dr Peter Lewis, who also agreed that I had an auto immune response to the vaccine and possibly had auto immune disease thereafter. We did a series of blood tests looking at my vitamin and mineral blood count, finding I was also low in vitamin D: I was prescribed 10,000 iu of vitamin D a day, alongside zinc, coenzymes, and had a B 12 injection and most importantly, also went on a series of eight days with ivermectin. I was taken straight through and had blood tests and scans. Drs assured me it wasn't a clot or stroke but were confident it was Bella palsy . They told me to follow up with gp. Asked if I was anxious about getting vax as stress can cause Bell's palsy. I said no... I didn't want it but was confident with my choice as I had looked at their stats. Have seen my gp twice since and am booked for mri. He said it is more than likely a response to vax but not enough to prevent me from getting second dose. I have since spoken with pharmacist who gave it to me and he said he wouldn't have the second if he was me and I should try different one. Gp said he can't recommend that but was angry I was given AstraZeneca considering my age. I am prepared to not travel interstate for many more months as I don't want the second... It came to the week of double jabbed being allowed to go for picnics. I was feeling very excluded and emotionally drained after weeks in lock down with my two young children. I was not able to work during this time due to being a casual. On the Wednesday it really got to me and I felt like I was the reason that my kids couldn't see their family or friends and that I was holding them back. I had also seen a friend shared that she could not take her newborn to see a specialist without being double jabbed. I felt scared that if something happened to my kids I would not be able to go with them and I would be separated. In my industry we also need to be double jabbed by the 8th Nov and I had been given permanent days for next year which I was so happy and excited about. So in a moment of weakness, the next morning of the 16th, I booked myself in for 10.45am. I didn't tell anyone except one friend because I was not proud of what I was doing. I felt shame. I did not want to do it but felt like I had no other choice - I didn't even tell my partner. At 15min past jab been given I felt a wave of heat in my chest that came and went. I left the hub at 11.20am, drove myself and children straight home. I did not feel right by 11.30am. I made us lunch and whilst eating my jaw began to ache and I felt funny all over.

									The chest burn sensation returned but, also pressure. I had chills. I toileted frequently with wee and poo. I was so scared. I asked my partner to come home to watch the boys. I felt weak and not able to do much. I went to sleep that night and slept ok. Friday morning after a walk out the backyard to feed the chooks.. the chest pain returned. I called my partner and asked him to come home. He came home at 11am and I went to bed. The discomfort was there all day and even after taking Nurofen and panadol I was unable to get to sleep that night. Lying down seemed to make it worse. The pressure felt like something was sitting on my centre upper chest. I drove myself to ED early Saturday morning around 3am. They did an ECG and told me my heart was ok. He said it could be a body ache or reflux. Spoke with my doctor on the 23rd Sep. He said ED thinks it was reflux. I told him I was still experiencing chest discomfort and I would like further testing as per the TGA website on patients with chest pain after Pfizer. I had another ECG with cardiac bloods on the Friday and an echo and stress test on the Monday. I spoke with doctor again on the 29th Sep and he said all tests were ok and my symptoms were unlikely anything to do with the 'vaccine' and that I should go ahead and get my second. I said to him but it all started half an hour after receiving it! And I had not experienced anything like it before. During that week I had also experienced stabbing pains in my legs, toes and fingers going numb, stabbing pain in abdomen, jaw ache and chest pain again. I still don't feel right today 12th Oct. The whole left side of my face has a numbness to it, I also have noticed that I have a slight left lip droop, and my eye doesn't open fully like the other. I attended the Armadale Emergency Department 1410hrs, I was seen first by Dr Shaun (or Sean), I felt it easier to talk to him since he had said he had also been forced to have his Vaccination for covid-19 to keep his job. He listened to me try to explain my symptoms which has been difficult, I hadn't realized at the time I had a left lip droop – or I would have pointed that out. He put in a IVC and took some bloods, another female doctor came who was pregnant, she came, and I explained it all over again, she tested my reflexes, she said my reflexes weren't the best, the tested muscle strength etc. she came back and told me that my blood results were fine, the platelets were fine, she said they didn't suspect stroke (I had mentioned Bells Palsy to Dr Shaun) or a PE. She said that it will be a vax reaction but not a serious one and didn't see why I couldn't have my second vax, she also said that they've had lots of people coming through with reactions and side effects due to the vax, they just aren't serious, she says. She said it was possible I was suffering from a silent migraine, I have never had a migraine before, I had no symptoms the same as a silent migraine except for the neurological abnormalities. As I have been sitting Thursday night, I have all the left sided altered sensations, my left side of my body feels like it has a layer of numbness over it compared to the right side. I also have the thermal cold burning feeling all over the left side and this is also on the rear of my right thigh and my right arm, to explain this feeling it is like someone has rubbed metsal cream under my skin and into my body

									and then also spread it over my skin, I have altered temperature disturbances over my left arm specifically, I cant get a temperature right, any cool breeze and it makes me get goosebumps and feel extremely cold. I also have been feeling the chest thermal burn, deep in and over my chest that accompanies by the adrenaline anxious feeling, I wasn't not stressed at this time, it just flares up stays for a while then slowly simmers down to having it sitting there gently always felt. I'm worried that this burning feeling since it almost encases my upper chest will be affecting my heart. With regarding to shower temperature, prior to the ModVax I loved really hot showers, now I am struggling to have too much heat predominantly in my left arm and hand and side, I just cant tolerate the water temperature and it gives off an extreme burning feeling, it is 2348hrs. Friday 8th October: I have realized today that my arms are getting a weird feelings, hard to explain but if you get a nervous or excited feeling about something and your arms have the jittery nervousness, I have been experiencing this, I have noticed that if I do think about it or start having another episode of the burning sensation or different new feelings this will set of the full blown response in my chest and this amplifies the nervous response, this is also happening when there isn't anything to cause it, if I am warm and comfortable it comes on more and will amplify, otherwise it just sits there with the thermal burn. 1230hrs I am out with mum at the shops for distraction had lunch, got a lemon lime and bitters, had a drink -has a gross taste, I start to experiment with the tastes, I have now discovered that my left side of my tongue has

									altered sensation and taste. The left side of my tongue has a bitter metallic taste while the right has normal taste, I put a piece of ice on my tongue and it has a complete dulled recognition to the right side, as does rubbing lemon on it, the sourness barely is recognized. I barely ate Thursday, and this was a struggle to eat this little burger. 1418hrs walking around the shops my left foot goes numb from the top and then spread to the bottom, I then had a prickling tingling sensation move up and down my lower leg until it settled into my ankle the front crease/bend where It stays like a cold thermal burn inside, after about 20 minutes of this going on my chest has the full blown chest pressure with the cold thermal burning with the fluttering across my chest, when this happens I cannot focus, cannot do any normal duties, when this happens I cant bare to have anyone touching my arm as its prickling too and altered sensations and getting the goosebumps due to the thermal cold though I am not actually cold in the shop. I have found the symptoms that I receive can change very quickly and I can feel the change in my tissues as it spreads. At 1939hrs I have started getting throbbing arthritic type bone pain that started in my hips bilaterally and has moved slowly down the bone until it was in my knees as well this was felt to a more painful degree in my right side and then I had a burning strong stabbing pain in my left leg, like it was in the muscles which stayed there for at least 30 minutes. At 1944hrs I tried my daughters Coca-Cola chuppachup, touching to the right side of my tongue, the sugar spreads across my tongue activating those receptors to the sweetness. The left side is very dulled and can only taste a bit of sugary taste.

									In the shower tonight I poked my tongue out under the spray, high pressure shower, as a single stream of water hits my left tongue I can hold it there for a bit without issue, but when I do it to the right side instantly, I must remove it and itch it and feels like I need to scratch it. 9th October: I have started to get what feels like a chesty cold, my chest is feeling congested, and my throat is sore, my left leg is progressively getting worse with the strong burning sensation in it, and its only continuing to grow stronger. Everything continues to be the same, chest burn, left leg burn, left arm burns sporadically, left sided numbness, and can never tell if I am hot or cold, but if I keep myself cooler then the chest burns simmers. 10th October: I woke up today and my arms are feeling a type of twitchy tremor, to explain is like a nervous or excited jumpy twitch that you could get when nervous or excited, my hands both have a distinct tremor in them, I can feel a tremor in my arms that isn't seen from the outside, like my muscles are twitchy constantly. My hands are jumpy and have a jerky movement when doing small things like typing on my mobile, I am making more mistakes when typing. It is incredibly hard to find the words. My arms and legs have a felt weakness in them. My head has begun to feel not quite right, like something is slightly off but I cannot pinpoint it. I still experience the left sided numbness and burning in the arm, leg, chest and back. I went to the shops today, I carried a semi weighted bag, nothing hugely heavy, and have been experiencing quite a bit of back pain since, I've tried stretches to help. My body feels a bit stiff, usually I am very flexible. 2200hrs- I can feel my legs tremor in bed I'm simply laying here, and they are tremoring I can feel it on the other leg and can

									feel it inside the leg, my arms and hands also have a distinct tremor. 11th October: I continue to feel the weakness and twitchy feelings in my arms and legs. I have seen the naturpoath today who has said that the sharp pains in my head at time of the reaction were brain bleeds, I am also experiencing head fog and have trouble keeping focus and train of thought with conversation and forget whet im doing as I'm doing it. More has come from this appointment. I saw a gp today regarding follow up with a neurologist and a exemption for vax 2 as I need to work. They told me I need to see a immunologist and gave me a copy of the Emergency departments discharge letter... majority of the information on the discharge letter is untrue and not in accordance to what I told them, they have changed it all around to suit their own narrative. The lady doc told me I have poor knee reflex.. yet on the discharge it said reflexes NAD (No abnormalities detected) my obs were normal limits but my heart rate was tachycardia at 103. They worked down that I had a left headache with all over migratory head pain... none of which is what I told them. I'm disappointed they've lied so blatantly. They said diagnosis was adverse toxic reaction +/- but they told me it will be a vax reaction but it's not serious and that they get people with vax reaction come though all the time but not serious. She also told me to have my second vax. She then tried to tell me it could be migratory in the form of a silent migraine but I only had one of the symptoms which was the abnormalities in sensation. I was admitted to hospital and spent 2 full days barely able to walk or move without discomfort. I was given a heavy dose of strong antibiotics administered via intravenous and painkillers. I visited multiple doctors and a urologist specialist to find the reason for the infections. Nothing could be identified except the vaccine. I did a lot of scans and tests including an invasive cystoscopy but no issues could be identified. I am sure this was the vaccine as I have never experienced anything similar in my lifetime and despite this being rare it has occurred to others.

My gp said it was completely safe and she asked me in a confused and angry way "why haven't you had the vaccine?! I urge you to get It". She knows my medical history and still urged me to get it. On the tuesday, day of the vaccine I had a panic attack before it was injected and the lady asked if I wanted to speak to a doctor beforehand and I said yes. The doctor was talking about all the "hype" around the vaccine and a lot of people my age and misinformation. He said it's completely safe and it has been tested all around the world and started talking about his family and his experience and they're all fine.. I said I was worried because it is a trial and I told him my medical history and also there's no long term data on side effects and I asked if it Is 100% safe and he couldn't answer yes to that. He said with anything there could be side effects and that it is FDA approved. He said youll be fine. I went ahead and got it done and within a minute or two I fainted. Within the hour and a few hours my vision was a little blurry and I was spacey. From that day onwards I felt chest tightness and near the heart, random shooting pains in my body in random areas and I was extremely weak. My teeth and jaw on the left side (left arm was jabbed) was extremely painful and my face and body extremely inflamed for a few days (still is). The tightness and pain in my chest went to my heart as well and rib cages. Lots of shooting pains and troubles breathing. The pain and tightness in my chest and heart was so bad that I went to the doctors 3 or 4 days after vaccine. I told her what was happening and she kept saying I'm

									just anxious. That's just your anxiety.. I told her that I actually had been remaining calm since the day of the vaccine to focus on just getting better and healing. She kept saying that the pain in my breasts is normal.. And "what's the worse that can happen.. You have breast cancer or a cyst?! That's not from the vaccine.. And that you only can have side effects from the vaccine 3 days after it" and "it's normal to have these side effects.. My daughter had pain in her breasts and she's fine now". She kept gaslighting me and saying I'm just anxious. She said to wait a month before getting a scan anyway. The pain and chest tightness and pains in my heart got worse and worse. I kept sweating and getting hot and cold flushes. Pain and aches in the body especially around my chest and heart and ribcages. Also struggling to breathe and very short breaths. Random heart palpitations and numbness in the arms and legs and feet(which is still happening a week after vax) Two days after the doctor appointment, is when the adverse reaction happened (9th October). In the morning and day before I had diarrhoea and was throwing up so much thick mucus. Then that night, I was sitting with my boyfriend after dinner relaxed and I knew I wasn't feeling any well that whole day and the whole week and my chest was tightening. All of a sudden my airways completely closed and I couldn't breathe at all. 									hurting and I was choking and coughing non stop for at least 10 minutes straight. I had no oxygen and couldn't open or focus my eyes for at least 15 minutes. My boyfriend was trying to hard to keep my conscious and breathing. I had never experienced this before in my life and have never been so scared. He was going to call the ambulance but was too busy trying to keep my upright and conscious and breathing. After about 15 minutes of that I was finally in bed laying down but with the worst heart pains and chest pains I've ever experienced. It was so hard to breathe. My arms went numb and I couldn't feel my left arm. I had random twitches in my left arm and random muscle spasms. I didn't feel right at all so I went to the emergency at Concord Hospital. After waiting an hour outside on my own(none of my family were allowed in with me) for them to give me a covid test and test results (they said I had to) they said I was negative and I had to wait even more to get inside. When I was finally in a room, they did blood tests and other tests. I told them if they could use my right arm because my left arm was very sore from the vacine and they went ahead and put the needle through my left arm and it was SO painful. She was rough and didn't care that it was in pain and she said it's normal for a little sting. It was in so much pain I couldn't bend it. It was purple and inflamed. After the tests and a couple of hours, the nurse told me herself that "you've had a reaction to the Pfizer vaccine. It's called costochondritis. It is one of the side effects" she spelt it out for me and explained it's a painful inflammation of the rib cages and chest and heart. They DID NOT write this in the hospital discharge summary. They wrote shortness of breath.

									Then a male doctor or nurse did an ultra sound of my chest and he said that I have none of the "bad stuff and no fluid around the heart" I told him I was scared to get the second jab because of what I've been experiencing, the pain in the heart and tonight when I had zero oxygen and was choking and couldn't breathe and he said "this is so common and "when I had the vaccine, I fainted in my car and passed out again when I got home... And on my second jab I only had a sore arm." He was the second doctor to just talk about their experience. IAll they said to me in regards to fixing the pain in the heart and chest pains was to take panadol. It's now a week post vaccine and my heart pains and chest pains have NOT gotten better. I've been close to fainting several times. I start choking if I laugh or even eat food. My heart palpitates like crazy if I'm moving and the pain and chest tightness is still there. I was put on an ECG machine and was given a pill to open my arteries as they thought I was having a heart attack ? Which I wasn't having a heart attack and they also did x-rays on my chest and my lungs and heart were completely fine ! The doctors said it was a mystery why I was having this severe chest pain for over 7 hours straight ! And I've never felt anything like it before as the pain was also in my throat ! I guarantee it's because of the Pfizer vaccine! I will not be going back to have the 2nd one as I'm too afraid too ! I told the doctors I'd had the vaccine , but was aware I had to report it as in Australia it's voluntary to report it , which I didn't know ? If symptoms return again , I will report it !

I immediately had a terribly sore arm on injection site and felt very very weak. The very next day I developed severe chest pain beyond any pain I have ever experienced. I became short of breath and presented to a local gp who sent me straight to emergency for further investigations as he thought it was myocarditis associated with Pfizer vaccine. There I had a chest X ray, ECG and blood test all of which came back normal, however I was monitored for 7 hours just in case my heart did something funny. I was eventually discharged. I have since seen a cardiologist and three gps who will not medically exempt me from further doses because there is no 'scientific data' showing any changes to my 'normal functioning'.
