Dear Mr Kukiz,

Congratulations to Poland on 100 years of independence! As I prepare for my upcoming show in Kraków, I've been reminded of an iconic Polish writer who, like me, used his artistic platform to support animal rights: Isaac Bashevis Singer. An early outspoken vegetarian, he won the Nobel Prize in Literature 40 years ago, and although he died in 1991, his words of wisdom live on in a recent PETA video short hosted by Natalie Portman—as does his wit. He once famously quipped, "I did not become a vegetarian for my health; I did it for the health of the chickens."

To bring his message of compassion to a new generation of Poles, would you help officially proclaim his birthday, November 21, to be Isaac Bashevis Singer Day? I understand from my friends at PETA that you're not only an animal lover but also a leader who appreciates that the power of the arts can help shape a more enlightened society.

Sincerely,
